The study questions are complete in the Final Question Wiki in the Week 13 Activities Section of Moodle at <https://ay14.moodle.umn.edu/mod/wiki/view.php?id=35798>. These questions can be used as Study Questions for the Final Exam. Note my comments to the questions in the wiki.

NOTE: If you contributed a question to the wiki and didn't include your name in the wiki, please identify yourself so that you will receive your points, although it is now too late to add new study questions.

Don't forget the live chat on Thursday night to review for the Final Exam. Students have found the live chat to be both fun and informative. If you don't have any specific question(s) just tune in and "lurk". . . .

The Final Exam:

In a nutshell, you will be given four questions randomly selected by Moodle. There will be about sixteen exam questions in the Final Exam Question Pool, including one or more current affairs question(s). The other questions are based on the questions on the Final Exam Question Wiki (see above).

The exam will be given on-line in Cina 224, and you will have two hours to complete your four questions once you start.

Final Exam

Week 16 ("Finals Week"):

The Ancient Middle America Final Exam is scheduled for 10:00-11:55 a.m., Friday, 19 December 2014, in Cina 214

REM: Bring your Laptop

Moodle Exams (and everything else on Moodle) works best with a Firefox browser. If you do not have a Firefox browser on your laptop, download one (it's free).

Be sure to save your answers as you go along. I recommend saving every five minutes.

Be sure to submit your final answers before the time on your timer expires.

Complete information on the Final Exam is available at <http://www.d.umn.edu/cla/faculty/troufs/anth3618/maexams.html#final>.

I strongly recommend that before you begin your exam you review exam essay writing with “the OWL” . . .

Writing Essays for Exams

<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/737/01/>

If you do not have much experience taking essay exams you should definitely have a look at what the Purdue University OWL has to say. The OWL’s advice is short, and helpful.

And it’s always a good idea to share your ideas and form study groups with others, but it is especially a good idea during Finals Week. Discuss the exam on-line with the others in class.
