Welcome to Anthropology 4653 Senior Seminar

Available on-line in your canvas folder at <http://canvas.umn.edu/>

I hope you are having a great holiday season.

I am sending this note out early to make it more convenient for the procrastinators to order textbooks on-line (if that is an attractive option for you), and / or to let you get started reading one or other of the interesting articles we have for the class (if you are the kind of person who likes to read ahead). If neither of these options applies to you, and you feel like a little end-of-the-holiday season procrastination, just relax and enjoy the wonderful winter weather, and, the rest of your break, but be sure to have some lentils on New Years’ Day—an old European tradition said to bring Good Fortune in the New Year).

What is a seminar anyway?

Give that some thought in the next few weeks. . .
Whatever a seminar is, this will be a great one, and a great experience. You will see.

Right off the bat you might be interested in the textbooks for the course. Three texts are required, and as exams are open-book exams you should have your own copy of each text.

The Textbooks

Textbooks are available from the following vendors . . .

UMD Bookstore | Amazon.com | Barnes and Noble
CampusBooks.com | Chegg [rental] | ecampus.com | half.com
booksprice.com | CheapestTextbooks.com | CourseSmart.com | TextbookMedia.com

More information on textbooks in general can be found at

And thousands of books are available free online, full text versions, <http://www.d.umn.edu/cla/faculty/troufs/reference/books.html>,
and might occasionally be useful in one or more of your other courses.
Exams will be open-book essays constructed from a list of study questions that you help create, so it would be a good idea for you to have your own copy of the text, and it is a good idea that you take your reading notes right in your copy of the text itself.

One thing that you should keep in mind when approaching these readings, which I will talk more about as the seminar progresses, is that, as mentioned above, the exams are open-book. You should read the texts carefully and be able to discuss the materials therein intelligently. That is, you should read the texts as if you had picked them up at an airport or neighborhood bookshop on the way to Austria or the South Seas because you were interested in the subjects and wanted to know more about them, like literally millions of people are doing in everyday life.

PLEASE NOTE: Some students are used to principally memorizing facts in classes. This class is not one where that is the focus. It is about investigating and discussing new topics, reading, listening, synthesizing ideas, thinking, exploring, and becoming familiar enough with the various subjects, peoples and places to carry on an intelligent conversation in modern-day society.

In short, this class aims to give you practice in critical thinking, and even creativity, avoiding rote memorization if possible. Please keep that in mind when thinking about, and getting ready for, the exams.

Critical thinking, involving evaluation and synthesis, has long been regarded as essential for success in the modern-day world. In recent years, actually for two decades, creativity has also become central to success, and "process skills" vital to creativity. Process skills involve "strategies to reframe challenges and extrapolate and transform information, and to accept and deal with ambiguity" (Pappano, "Learning to Think Outside the Box," The New York Times EducationLife, 9 February 2014, 8). Laura Pappano, writer in residence at Wellesley Center for Women at Wellesley College, points out that "In 2010 'creativity' was the factor most crucial for success found in an I.B.M. survey of 1,500 chief executives in 33 industries. These days 'creative' is the most used buzzword in LinkedIn profiles two years running" (2014, 8).

In a nutshell, ANTH 4653 Senior Seminar consists of three main segments:

I Orientation and Background (slides; on-line slides)

- Introduction
- Basic Concepts (Review)
- Professional Ethics
- History (Review)
- Theory (Review)
- Methods and Techniques (Review)
- Applications

II Explorations

- Comparative / Cross-Cultural
- Holistic

Ethnographic Case Studies and Projects from the Real World:
Real People . . . Real Places from Around the Globe

Anthropology Day Class Project

Panel Discussions on John H. Bodley's Anthropology and
One of the four main characteristics of American Anthropology is fieldwork, "a primary research technique, involving “participant observation,” which usually means living among the people one is interested in learning from and about. It would be wonderful if for anthropology classes we could just charter a plane or rent a coach and take off for a year or more to learn first-hand from the people themselves. Money, time, and practicality prohibit that, so the next best things—when it comes to studying anthropology—is going to places and viewing subjects by video. So we’ll do that occasionally. More information on Visual Anthropology is available online at <http://www.d.umn.edu/cla/faculty/troufs/anth1604/visual_anthropology.html#title>.

With all of these materials you will be expected to share your ideas and comments with others in the class Forums and wikis and general discussions, and in your Panel Discussions, and in your Group Presentations and Group Reports, and Anthropology Day Project Participation. I'm looking forward to that.
You will find that there is "an awful lot" of materials online—maybe even too many!

Where to start?

Probably the best place to start is with the "First Day Handout", online at http://www.d.umn.edu/clas/faculty/troufs/anth4653/sshandout_first-day.html#title.

Also have a look at the course “Home” page of your Senior Seminar canvas folder. It will look something like this . . .
Play around with your Canvas folder materials. . . . From your “Home” page go to “Assignments” . . .

Then look at your Canvas folder materials by clicking the triangle of the “Explore Canvas . . .” drop-down menu.
When the "Explore Canvas ..." menu drops down, checkout the "Canvas Student Guide".
Start with the "Canvas Student Guide" if you are new to Canvas.

![Canvas guide]

Then checkout the other items that interest you most.

Then set/update your Canvas (1) "User Settings" and "Profile Picture".

Complete or update your (2) "Canvas Profile".

Then set your (3) "Canvas Notification Preferences".
Then have a look at your canvas Gradebook folder, which gives a nice listing of the actual requirements and due dates for all of the requirements of the course. (You'll find the link for that in the Course Navigation column on the left-hand side of your “Home” page.)
Enjoy the Course and Enjoy the holidays.
Best of the Holiday Wishes to you . . .

I hope you had a great Boxing Day, and are having a good Christmas-Hanukkah-Kwanza season. Have a great New Year’s Evening and New Year’s Day and a great New Year.

In Vienna and Budapest and throughout much of Europe people will be eating lintels on New Year’s Day. Eating lintels helps you have a great new year. I’ve tried them in both places, and it seems the Hungarian lentils work just slightly better than elsewhere. A Hungarian professor friend recently passed on some important information about New Year’s Day lentils: “Gabriella says that the heart (seeds) are important for the coming fortune. . . .” So on New Year’s Day, eat plenty of lentils and pay special attention to the hearts. . . .
Laptops are welcome in the classroom. Many find a laptop quite useful in following the lectures as all lectures in this class are web supported. You can, for example, download all of the slide materials used in this class, and annotate them.

Having said that, consider the latest research that suggests . . .

"For better learning in college lectures, lay down the laptop and pick up a pen"

Laptops Are Great. But Not During a Lecture or a Meeting.

So, if you use a computer in class, and your computer is so equipped, how about compromising and writing on your laptop with an electronic digital smart pen?

The University is scheduled to open your site on January 3rd. Have a look at it at <http://canvas.umn.edu/>.
So once again, welcome to the Anthropology Senior seminar. This will be a great course, and a great experience.

You will see.

Thanks for signing on for the Anthropology Senior Seminar. I am looking forward to meeting you in class at 4:00 p.m. on the 10th of January. In the meantime, you might want to peruse the information in your folder at <http://canvas.umn.edu/>. The Student Guide / Overview / Tour can be very helpful.

Student Guide -- written guides with step-by-step instructions for Canvas tools

Canvas Student Overview (6:47 min)

Canvas Student Tour -- course site with video resources

My office hours and contact information (and other regular schedule information) can be found at <http://www.d.umn.edu/cla/faculty/troufs/anth1602/pcoffice.html>.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to post them on canvas or e-mail troufs@d.umn.edu.

See you on the 10th.

Best of the warm Holiday Wishes to you . . .
I hope you had a great Boxing Day, and are having a good Christmas-Hanukkah-Kwanza season. Have a great New Year’s Evening and New Year’s Day and a great New Year.

P.S. If you are new to the world of "technology" don't worry too much about that. Things may not "work" for you at first, but hang in there and we'll help you along. If you have not used course management system before, you might find it helpful to view the Canvas Student Guide.
