Weekly Memos / Announcements

Every week—usually on Sunday—you will receive a memo like this which outlines what’s happening for the week.

Each week you will get the memo in your UM e-mail account and it will be available in your  canvas folder in three places . . .

HINT: You can synchronize your  canvas calendar with your UMD Google calendar, if you want. Information for that is here for s2020.

These weekly memos contain lots of valuable and timely information, so pay careful attention to them . . .

- The Weeks’ Assignments and Activities Schedules

- Due Dates for the Weeks
- The Weeks' Calendar Summaries
- Reminders for the Weeks
- Suggestions and Hints for Exams
- Interesting tidbits of the week, including For-Fun Trivia . . .
- Optional links that might be generally interesting and/or useful for example Extra Credit Opportunities
- Information on In-Class Films and Videos
(of which there will be many, starting next week)
- Breaking News Items

In the Welcome Memo I mentioned “Tomorrow’s headlines. . . . We’ll soon see what the future brings in the world of food.” Food and food customs always seem to be in the news.*

In the News (review)

WEEKLY FOOD NEWS INCLUDES ITEMS LIKE:

(These are examples for you to check out, if you are so inclined. Sometimes folks get ideas for their term project by looking at news items like these.)

As I mentioned in my welcome memo, the exams will be open-book essays constructed from a list of study questions that you help create, so it would be a good idea for you to have your own copy of each text you plan to use in the exams.

For the exams you should normally just need to read the books carefully and be able to discuss them intelligently. That is, you should read these as if you had picked it/them up at an airport or neighborhood bookshop because you were interested in the subject and wanted to know more about it, like literally millions of people are doing in everyday life.

PLEASE NOTE WHAT I MENTIONED

EARLIER: Some students are used to principally memorizing facts in classes. This class is not one where that is the focus. It is about investigating new topics, reading, listening, synthesizing ideas, thinking, exploring, and becoming familiar enough with the various subjects, peoples and places to carry on an intelligent conversation in modern-day society.

Critical thinking, involving evaluation and synthesis, has long been regarded as essential for success in the modern-day world. In recent years, actually for two decades, creativity has also become central to success, and "process skills" vital to creativity. Process skills involve "strategies to reframe challenges and extrapolate and transform information, and to accept and deal with ambiguity" (Pappano, "Learning to Think Outside the Box," The New York Times Education Life, 9 February 2014, 8). Laura Pappano, writer in residence at Wellesley Center for Women at Wellesley College, points out that "In 2010 'creativity' was the factor most crucial for success found in an I.B.M. survey of 1,500 chief executives in 33 industries. These days 'creative' is the most used buzzword in LinkedIn profiles two years running" (2014, 8).

With all of the class materials you will be expected to share your ideas and comments with others in the Class Discussions and wikis.

It is not accidental that TAPS, Canada's leading Beer Magazine—in fact it's THE BEER MAGAZINE—features this item from this class in an editorial (Winter 2011-2012, p. 2); at least one major Editor in Chief thinks it's worth noting and imitating.

As I mentioned in my earlier memo,

The Course in a Nutshell

Overall, this course consists of three main segments:

I Orientation and Background

Introduction
Basic Concepts
History
Theory
Methods and Techniques

II Exploration

Comparative / Cross-Cultural Holistic
Ethnographic Case Studies from the Real World:
Real People . . . Real Places from Around the Globe

III Student Presentations on Term

Research Projects

For the first part of the course much of the material for the week will be presented in the form of text materials and on-line slide materials. Please note that many of the slide sets go hand-in-hand with the materials in the anchor text. If your learning style is visual, focus first/more on the slides. In the second section of the semester, once you have mastered the basic information relating to the Anthropology of Food, we will look (generally comparatively, cf., Main Characteristics of Anthropology in Week 1) at a series of video materials from around the world. The final section will focus on your research projects.

You will find that there are
"an awful lot" of materials on-line
—maybe even too many!

Where to start?

Probably the best place to start is with the

"First Day Handout"

on-line at http://www.d.umn.edu/cla/faculty/troufs/anthfood/afhandout_first-day.html#title.

Also have a look at the course "Home" page of your  canvas folder <http://canvas.umn.edu/>. It will look something like this . . .

The screenshot shows the top portion of a course page. On the left is a vertical navigation menu with icons for Grades, Google Drive, Library Course Page, Account, Dashboard, Courses, Calendar, Inbox, and Help. The main content area features the text "Welcome to Anthropology of Food" and "Spring 2020 Greetings". Below this is a photograph of a man wearing a hat and glasses, standing in a market surrounded by large green durians. A sign in the background has Chinese characters "猫山王" (Mauson King). A price tag in the foreground says "包山 1kg $28".

Play around with your Canvas folder materials. . . . From your “Home” page go to your “Syllabus” . . .

Start with the "Canvas Student Guide" if you are new to Canvas.

The screenshot shows a list of assignments in Canvas. A yellow arrow with the text 'If you have not used Canvas before start with the "Canvas Student Guide"' points to the assignment '(optional) Canvas Student Guide'. The assignment is circled in red. Other assignments include 'AF Complete or Update Your Canvas "Profile" as Part of Your Introduction.', 'AF Complete or Update Your Canvas Notification Preferences', 'AF Wk 1 Due: Self Assessment', '(optional) Canvas Guide: User Settings and Profile Picture', '(optional) Explore Canvas...', '(optional) How to Turn Your Canvas Calendar On/Off', 'AF Wk 2 For Fun Food Trivia: What were the American frontiersman Kit Carson's Last Words?', and 'AF Wk 2 For Fun Food Trivia: What would Willie Nelson have his Last Supper be? One what?'. The dates 'Fri Jan 17, 2020' and 'Sun Jan 19, 2020' are also visible.

When the "Explore Canvas . . ." menu drops down, checkout the "Canvas Student Guide".

The screenshot shows the Canvas LMS interface. On the left is a dark red sidebar with navigation icons for Account, Dashboard, Courses, and Calendar. The main content area displays a list of assignments. A yellow callout arrow with the text "If you are new to Canvas, explore the basics" points to the "optional) Canvas Student Guide" item in the "Explore Canvas . . ." dropdown menu. A red hand-drawn circle highlights the "Explore Canvas . . ." menu item and the "Canvas Student Guide" item.

P.S. If you are new to the world of "technology" don't worry too much about that. Things may not "work" for you at first, but hang in there and we'll help you along. If you have not used  canvas course management system before, you might find it helpful to view the Canvas Student Guide.
