

Why take a 3-Credit Travel Course with MSASS?

Mandel School of Applied Social Science (MSASS) at Case Western Reserve University

Participants are invited to travel to

Bangladesh, Israel, and Ecuador

With permission, special arrangements may be made with your university to offer as an Independent Study course.

As an Undergraduate, Graduate, Alumni or Professional you will travel during your break to Bangladesh (partnership with Southern Illinois in Carbondale), Israel, or Ecuador

You will develop long lasting friendships with others from many disciplines and universities

You will boost resume & transcript and not need any prior prerequisite or language

You will meet regional & neighborhood leaders, policy makers, practitioners, scholars, consumers and students

I would like you to be aware of the special short-term international study opportunities that the Mandel School is offering for ALL undergraduate, graduate students and professionals. I will appreciate your assistance in bringing the program to the attention of your students, advisees and colleagues. These international opportunities are designed to enable participants to experience a new culture, to see comparative social service systems and gain new insights into the needs of people in the US and abroad. Recent studies have shown participants who are immersed in short term travel programs to be more globally engaged, as well as rated their experience as the most significant of their college years. Feel free to forward this e-mail and attached flier. For more information, you can visit our web site at <http://msass.case.edu/international/index.html>

Special arrangements may be made with students' university to offer as your Independent Study course.
