JACQUES LIPCHITZ
(American)

Daniel Greysolon, Sieur du Luth

1965

cast bronze, 9' high (18' with base)

Gift of the Ordean Fund and Mrs. E. L. Tuohy

This person is Daniel Greysolon, Sieur du Luth, the French explorer for whom the city of Duluth was named. It was created by Jacques Lipchitz, a friend of the artist Pablo Picasso, for Duluth.

The nine-foot tall statue can be seen in Ordean Court, right outside Tweed's entrance.

No one knew what Sieur du Luth looked like, so the artist decided he should have the look of a builder and explorer who was pointing to Lake Superior.
