Human Rights Issues and the American Indian Community

Mon., Oct. 15, 7 pm, Kirby Rafters, University of Minnesota Duluth

A panel presented by the UMD Center for Genocide, Holocaust, and Human Rights Studies

Jim Northrup, Writer and Activist

Robert Powless, Professor Emeritus, American Indian Studies, UMD

Linda Grover, Chair, American Indian Studies, UMD

For more information contact Center for Genocide, Holocaust, and Human Rights Studies: apogorel@d.umn.edu, 218-726-7548
or the American Indian Learning Resource Center at 218-726-6379

The “UMD American Indians in Minnesota Series” is co-sponsored by the MN Sesquicentennial Committee, Lake Superior Writers, and the following UMD Departments and Programs: American Indian Learning Resource Center, Anishinaabe Student Organization, English Department, History Department, American Indian Studies Department, Political Science Department, Center for American Indian and Minority Health, Commission on Women, Chancellor’s Diversity Fund, College of Liberal Arts, College of Education and Human Service Professions, Labovitz School of Business and Economics.