When the Lamp is Shattered

Rotondo, sonabile, e poco allegro

Text by Percy Bysshe Shelley (1792–1822)
Justin Henry Rubin (2015)

*tenuto in this piece indicates emphasis without accent

very resonant throughout

Poco rit.  a tempo

When the lamp is shatter'd,

1. When the lamp is shatter'd,

2. When the lute is broken,

The light in the dust lies dead...

Sweet tones are remembered not...

When the cloud is scatter'd

When the lips have spoken,
The rainbow's glory is shed...

Rit.

The weak one is singled

Poco rit.

A tempo

When hearts have mingled,

The weak one is singled
To endure what it once possessed.

O Love!

who bewail, who bewail

wail-est fragility of all things here, of of all things here...

Like the sun from a win-try sky...

Leave thee na-ked
to laugh.

When

leaves fall

and Molto rit.

cold winds come...

dim.
