

ORAL PRESENTATIONS

In the presentation you should indicate your topic and thesis, describe the evidence that supports your thesis, and explain the significance of your research to our understanding of the history of U.S. foreign relations. You will be graded on these three criteria, as well as on the organization, structure, and flow of your presentation. Please keep in mind that you have only four minutes. Given what you must accomplish within the minimal time available, I strongly suggest that you develop an outline and practice your presentation ahead of time, thus ensuring that you are prepared to deliver a structured talk that is interesting and informative.

SCHEDULE:

Tuesday, May 6

Cory Abers
Michael Anderson
Kristine Bergren
Lindsay Buck
Timothy Bystrzycki
Patrick Cifaldi
Erik Cowles
Garrett Davis
Kyle DeGoey
Tanner Delawyer
Robert Downs
Ryan Eggers
Johanna Fenlon
Michael Finnerty
Joseph Flicek
Catherine Franson
Jacob Haugen
Kyle Hofer

Thursday, May 8

Matthew Holmes
Sarah Lindvig
Ian Lowry
Stephanie Maiwurm
Aaron McCormick
Jillian McDonald
Michael McHale
Jonathan McShane
Neal Mikacevich
Brian Miller
Joshua Pelovsky
Stephanie Post
Aaron Price
Alexander Rome
Ryan Ross
McKale Schwede
Amanda Westerlund