A note on

Canvas "Modules" and "Sunday Memos"

(General organization of stuff)

If you have had a chance to look at your Canvas folder, and checked out your "Modules" file, you saw an outline something like the one below.

First thing when you go into the "Modules" file:
click on the "Collapse All" button
in the upper right-hand corner.
That will make your life much easier.
(Trust me.)

(Sorry; Canvas does not permit instructors to set the default to open with all modules closed.)
These are the information categories for the semester . . . .

Not all weeks have all of this information;
for e.g., "Midterm Exam Information . . ." appears only at the relevant point in the semester.

Both the Canvas Modules and the "Sunday Memos" . . .
follow the same basic outline.

Your "Sunday Memos" arrive by e-mail, and are also featured each week at the top of your Canvas "Home Page".

REM: Links on screenshots are not "hot" (active)

Your "Home Page" is the first Canvas page you see when you open your Canvas folder.

Your Canvas Modules look like the following . . .
(The first two weeks there is always a lot of information; after that it's not so bad.)

REM: Links on screenshots are not "hot" (active)

And your "Sunday Memos" look like the following . . .

Both the Canvas Modules" and the "Sunday Memos" contain the basic information, but the "Sunday Memos" have more detail, some background, some studying suggestions, and, generally, some good images.
You will see.

REM: Links on screenshots are not "hot" (active)

When the semester starts the links on the memos will be "hot" (active) and they will take you to more detailed information. It's fine for you to select the items that interest you most.

P.S. REM: If you are new to the world of "technology" don't worry too much about that. Things may not "work" for you at first, but hang in there and we'll help you along. If you have not used ✦ canvas course management system before, you might find it helpful to view the Canvas Student Guide.
